

Ten relative response-position deciles are separate curves. Each value is measured on that update's rollout batch.