
Each line is one relative-response decile; the larger canvas keeps close profiles inspectable.